P500 Scenario – Cold Shoulder

P.1 Overview
This scenario focuses on the sector that the German plan set as the primary point of attack. The least effective progress was made by the German offensive in this sector. The goal is simple: seize and control as much territory as possible. Enjoy the game!

P.2 Scenario Length
Play Game Turns 1 – 9.

P.3 Area of Play
- Only Zone 6 is in play.
- All areas where Allied units are set-up (even contested areas) and all areas to the west of this front line are Allied-controlled. The Germans control all other areas.

P.4 Deployment at Start

P.5 Reinforcements

See tables on reverse side of this page—German on the left; Allied on the right.

All reinforcing units arrive full-strength for both sides except for the US 1st Infantry Division, which arrives with only one step.

P.6 Special Scenario Rules

- Both sides may trace supply through any and all Areas of Zone 5, but neither side may enter them, nor Retreat or Strat-move into or through them.
- The scenario begins with the German Combat Phase of Turn 1.
- All contested areas are considered newly-contested for the German Combat Phase of Turn 1 and a round of combat must be fought in them during that Phase.
- German artillery removal rules (16.12) take effect on Turns 5+.
- Reusable Special Actions and HQ assets are delayed one turn after use before being moved back to the Available Box or the selection cup, as appropriate.

P.7 Victory

At start of the scenario, Germans control 4 areas in Zone 6. Victory is determined by the number of areas in German control at the end of Turn 9:

- 11+ areas = German victory
- 10 areas = draw
- 9 or less areas = Allied victory

P.8 Historical Outcome

Eight areas controlled—Allied victory.

Chit Draws For Both Sides Are As Follows:

| Turn: | T1 | T2 | T3 | T4 | T5 | T6 | T7 | T8 | T9 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| German Chit Draws | 0 | 5 | 5 | 4 | 4 | 4 | 3 | 3 | 2 |
